Name, age, place of birth, job, character traits (good person, selfish, greedy, nervous) and you must tell me whether you agree with Denham or Jack and Ann. You must also draw a picture of what your character looks like. Plot out what happens next          Plan out what is going to happen after Kong breaks out from his chains in New York. Remember to include your new character. This is only a plan – you do not need to write the story here just plot it out. You can use a story map, bullet points or write a short summary. Write 1st draft of what happens next.          Using the opening line  With a deafening roar the chains that held Kong broke and.....          Write your first draft of what happens next. You do not have to stick to the original story, you can change it and you have to include your new character.          Remember to use capital letters, punctuation, speech and paragraphs. You must write at least 3 paragraphs.	2D and 3D shape          Around your house can you make a list of any 2D and 3D shapes – you can draw the item and tell me whether you think it is 2D or 3D. Keep your mental maths skills 'on the boil' by practising your times tables, number facts, counting skills and maths targets every day.	outside world (you can design new resources if you wish) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Your classroom must have some form of sustainable energy source that allows you to produce your own electricity (This can come from solar panel windows)</li> <li>It must look fun and exciting.</li> </ul> Draw a plan of your classroom and then create a power point presentation that you can present to the class detailing the features or write a report you can read to the class.
